ARRESTED ON PERJURY CHARGE.

The morning Andy Morris and Luke Jenkins were arrested on a grand jury indictment charging them with swearing falsely in the Bill Nutt trial. They were placed in jail where they remain in default of $2,000 bail.

Injunction Refused.

Hobart, Ok., Sept. 29.—Holding that he has no jurisdiction, District Judge James R. Tolbert refused today to grant an injunction asked by County Attorney H. L. Stanteven to prevent Kiowa county officers from turning over any records to officers of the new county of Swanson. Judge Tolbert holds that the supreme court has exclusive jurisdiction.

SENTENCE PASSED ON NUTT AND PRENTISS

Last evening, Judge Rainey overruled the motions for new trials in both the Prentiss and Nutt cases and passed sentence on the prisoners.

When asked if he had anything to say, Nutt made a short talk in which he declared that he had not had a fair trial, and that before God he was justifiable in killing Morrow. Towards the last his voice became rather unsteady and after being taken back to jail he broke down and wept. He slept little during the night and is feeling the full weight of the consequences of his crime.

Prentiss had nothing to say and took his sentence without any show of emotion.

Appeals will likely be taken in both cases, but in the meantime both men will be serving their terms at McAlester. They will be taken over as soon as their commitment papers are prepared.

NOTICE.

To the General Public:

District Court Adjourns.

District court adjourned this morning after a session of five weeks. Judge Rainey pushed the business rapidly and a great deal was accomplished. The judge and his stenographer left via the Katy for Conkate where a special case is to be tried, and Mrs. Rainey and child returned to their home at Atoka. Court will convene at Wewoka Monday and will remain in session about a month.

Jury Awards Damages.

HASKELL TOWN LOT CASES DISMISSED

FEDERAL ATTORNEYS GIVE UP
PROSECUTION AS A BAD JOB.

MOTION BY THE PROSECUTION

Both Sides Give Expression as to the Law and Facts Involved in Case.
Just Decided.

McAlester, Ok., Sept. 29.—The Muskogee town lot cases against Gov. C. N. Haskell, Walter R. Eaton, Major William T. Hutchings and Clarence W. Turner, all of Muskogee which have been pending in the so-called blanket indictment since February, 1909, were dismissed in the federal court today on the government's motion, and the defendants were discharged. This action was taken in view of Judge John H. Marshall's holding on Tuesday, applying the decision in the Lonabaugh case from the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, which, as attorneys for the government expressed it, reduced the town lot cases to a mere shell.

The court here held that as to the limited number of payments on Muskogee town lots, made by the defendant, Turner, within the statutory period of three years, ending May 27, 1909, this being the date the indictments were filed in court, the government would be required to show "conscious participation" in the payments by the defendants other than Turner. In view of this, Turner was left alone without a valid case to be maintained by the government, because one man, as it was aptly put in the arguments, "could not conspire with himself."

Court suspended yesterday to enable the government attorneys to check their evidence and witnesses against the courts ruling. This morning, however, ex-Judge B. T. Hainer of Tulsa, special counsel for the government, and District Attorney Gregg briefly argued the law points as recently laid down by the appellate court in Lonabaugh vs. the United States, applying them to Judge Marshall's opinion in passing on demurrers in the town lot cases at Chickasha last November.

The court interrupted to say that counsel for the government could assume that his Chickasha ruling was what he, the court, thought the law ought to be. Counsel drew a distinction between a real estate transaction whereby the government could be defrauded of the value of government land, as was the fact, Judge Hainer said, in the Lonabaugh case, and a case of interference with the government in exercising its governmental functions with respect to land of Indians, and in which the government had no pecuniary interest. Judge Marshall declined, however, to reconsider his views expressed Tuesday, saying that the appeal court decision was binding here.

Overt Acts Eliminated.

Mr. Rush, special prosecutor for the government, told the court that in view of the ruling following the Lonabaugh case there were eliminated all the overt acts charged in the indictment, and those which the government might prove were not charged, except the payment to Mr. Rush said:

"The statute of limitations has run as to every part of the conspiracy except the payments five or six, which your honor has held to be properly charged. It would be impossible, under the evidence that we have carefully considered, to show a conscious participation upon the defendants, Haskell, Eaton and Hutchings in the payment of those moneys to the government by Turner, and since the statute of limitations has run as to all these transactions which your honor's ruling cuts out, and the payments are the only ones within the statute of limitations, we think we would be 'taking up the time of the court to present our case. We therefore suggest that this case be nolle as to all of the defendants."

Judge Stuart, for the defense, requested the court to instruct the jury to render a verdict of acquittal, the court refusing with the statement that a nolle pross, as the government asked, was of equal effect, and the order was entered.

Action today was only as to the blanket indictments. There are remaining group indictments against Haskell, Eaton and Turner, against Severe and English, which counsel for the defense also asked to be disposed of.

District Attorney Gregg objected, saying they had been passed for the term, but would be attended to at a later date. If these cases are subsequently called the defendants will plead former jeopardy, inasmuch as the jury in this case had been impeached.

Gov. Haskell and the other defendants were warmly congratulated when the court made the order which nolle prossed the cases and the news of the court's action quickly spread over the state by telegram. The governor was the recipient of many telegrams of congratulation before leaving for Oklahoma City at midnight.

Few of the government's witnesses were in McAlester, and, as well as could be learned no witnesses for the defense were here. James King Duffy of New York formerly associated with Gov. Haskell in the Southwestern Trading and Construction company of Muskogee, through which the government alleged in the indictment the lot scheduling was first begun, arrived from New York late last night, and would have been one of the government's star witnesses had the case gone forward.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, we the South school extend our utmost sympathy to the bereaved family, Mrs. J. B. Wall and children, who so unexpectedly lost a devoted husband and a loving father, Whereas, we the teachers, of the South school express our unlimited sympathy to the bereaved wife and children.

Whereas, we the eighth grade and our teacher Mr. McCurry, ask that our sincerest sympathy be accepted by our classmate Charlotte Wall in this sad hour.

May God be the comforter and consoler to those of our classmates, who have lost their loved ones during the week.

Of South School.

Governor Haskell Speaks.

McAlester, Ok., Sept. 29.—Between 300 and 400 people gathered in front of the Busby Hotel with a band to-night and gave a public reception to Gov. C. N. Haskell. Judge C. B. Stuart, one of the governor's attorneys in the Muskogee town lot cases, the dismissal of which in the federal court today inspired the gathering, was the first speaker. He stated that he believed that Colonel Roosevelt, while acting as President of the United States, had been the instigator of the Haskell prosecution, and he characterized the cases as being maliciously waged against Haskell "because he stood in the open and fought when a man uttered that which was false."

He characterized it as a baseless prosecution for the purpose of destroying Haskell, and briefly telling what the cases were about, said that had Haskell and the others concerned in the Muskogee cases gotten away with all the lots which the government charged against them, Haskell's interest would have been less than $50. Judge Stuart reminded the people that Haskell and the other defendants had not been released by the statute of limitation, and, he added, this was not the statement of a dissatisfied man. "The axe of justice has fallen," he said, "and my thought is free." The attorney told the audience that he had defended the governor without charge; that when the matter first arose his sign volunteered its services gratis and although, he said, the governor has offered to pay him, he had declined to accept it, believing, he said, that he was defending the state of Oklahoma.

Mayor Quirk, presiding at the meeting, introduced Gov. Haskell, who, among other things he said, was master of the English language.

The governor's first statement was that it was greater to be an Oklahoman than a lion hunter, and in the twenty minutes he held the platform roundly denounced Col. Roosevelt for the alleged part the latter had played in inspiring and pushing the town lot cases. As a resident of Muskogee, the governor said that he was busy promoting railroads and had no time to engage in town lot transactions. He said that Judge Stuart was too high in his estimate of the amount of his (Haskell's) alleged interest in the Muskogee town lots as charged by the government, that it would be not more than 2 per cent of $1,700 or $35. The governor said that he wanted to thank the republicans whom he said, came to his defense. All the speakers were liberally applauded.

It is not necessary to go to the large cities to find tragedies in every day life. They are all around us. A few days ago the writer happened around the police court just as a woman whose face bore the marks of years of trouble and whose hands were hardened with toil, was pleading for her husband at that moment confined in the city jail for drunkenness. She spoke of all his good traits of character and passed over the bad. In spite of his neglect and perhaps cruelty, she clung to him even in the hour of his degradation, and hoping against hope this woman wanted her husband to have one more chance. With a lamentary cry she said she seemed to have lost his grip on himself or else he was never balanced right from the beginning and the double burden of life is left on his wife, rendering her life one long infamy. It is one of the inexorable laws of nature that the innocent must often suffer most from the acts of others.

Just now any one with an ambition to achieve a little cheap notority can do so with greatest ease.
The republicans are going over the state with a fine tooth comb in the search for democrats who are going to bolt the ticket in November. Their success has been very poor so far, and the finding of the scrawniest mugwump that ever pretended to be a democrat is hailed with as much joy as the discovery of a gold mine.
If you want to get your name in every republican paper in the state, great or small, now is the time, and it will look lonesome enough, too, for this is not much of a year for bolting democratic voters. Too much like jumping from the frying pan into the fire to suit thinking members of the party.

Now that Haskell has been cleared of the charges brought against him by command of Roosevelt, it is in order for the strenuous one to throw a few dozen more fits. No one conversant with the facts believed him guilty of anything that merited punishment, and no doubt Roosevelt himself knew it as well as any one, but he had to do something to turn the attention of the voters from himself when Haskell was firing into him so unmercifully.

One day last week the Quenemo News saw a man get a package at the depot and sneak down a side street and up an alley and there arose in us an Awful Thirst. We chased after the chap, says the News until we caught up with him and made him open the package, and suffering snakes! It was only a bundle of Sears-Roebuck catalogues. Mabel, why don't you sob!

"Saturday crowd blocked streets," is the big headline in the Hobart Republican telling of the unusual activity in that town. The editor of that sheet should visit Ada sometime. That's the condition of our streets every Saturday and often on other days. Perhaps Hobart is not used to such sights, however.

The state government of Oregon is figuring on publishing a newspaper in order that the people may get real facts and not be under the rule of the "commercial press." That will be one paper in which every state officer can have bouquets thrown at himself and no roasts will be in order.

The Francis Wigwam is just rounding out its third year and by way of celebrating the event Editor Clark has enlarged it to a six column paper. We congratulate Mr. Clark on the growth of his business and wish him continued success.

The grand jury has adjourned and now the sheriff's office is busy looking up the gentlemen with whom the county desires to do some business.
We are informed that some surprises are in store for the people.

We have one consolation about the paving business. Whether the asphalt is put down or not we are at least out of the mud for the winter.

CANDIDATES NOTICE.

A meeting of the Democratic Central Committee of Pontotoc county will be held at the court house tomorrow at 2 o'clock. A full attendance of the committee is expected, and I desire every candidate in the county to be present at the meeting. Time is short and we must be doing something. We have the votes in this county, and now all that remains is to get them out on election day. The state committee is expecting great things from Pontotoc county, and I do not want to see our vote fall short.

BYRON NORRELL,
County Chairman.

Ada Man Dies Here.

J. B. Wall of Ada, related by marriage to Judge W. A. Ledbetter, and other Oklahoma City people, died at a local hospital Thursday morning.
He was taken sick Saturday and his condition has been growing steadily worse since that time. Mr. Wall was 37 years of age. His wife is in the city. The body will be sent to Ardmore Friday by the Marshall & Harper company.—Oklahoman.

Origin of Confetti.

The history of confetti is rather curious. Several years ago a large printing works in Paris was turning out immense quantities of calendars, through which a small round hole had been punched to receive an eyelet for holding the sheets together. A heap of the little circular scraps of paper cut out by the punch accumulated on a table, and one of the machine men amused himself by scattering a handful of them over a working girl's hair. She immediately snatched up a handful and threw them in his face. Other girls followed her example, and the first confetti battle began. The head of the establishment came in when it was at its height, and being what the Americans call a "smart man" he at once realized that there was "money in it." He ordered special machinery, placed large quantities of the new article on the market, made a fortune, and created a new industry.—Exchange.

FROM CRADLE TO THE GRAVE.

An Essay by Robert G. Ingersoll, Regarded by Many as His Masterpiece.

Robert G. Ingersoll's Essay on Life Written after the birth of his grandchild.

Born of love and hope, of ecstasy and pain, of agony and fear, of tears and joy dowered with the wealth of two united hearts—held in happy arms, with lips upon life's drifted font, blue-velvet and fair, whose perfect peace finds perfect form—rocked by willing feet and wooed to shadowy shores of sleep by siren mother, singing soft and low—looking with wonder's wide and startled eyes at common things of life and day—taught by want and wish and contact with the things that touch the dimpled flesh of babes—lured by light and flame, and charmed by col-or's wondrous robes—learning the use of hands and feet, and by the love of nursery beguiled to utter speech—releasing prisoned thoughts from crabbled and curious marks on soiled and tattered leaves—puzzling the brain with crooked numbers and their changing, tangled worth—and so through years of alternating day and night, until the captive grows familiar with the chains and walls and limitations of a life.

And time runs on in sun and shade until the one of all the world is wooded and won, and all the lore of love is taught and learned again.
Again a home is built, with a fair chamber wherein faint dreams, like cool and shadowy vales, divide the billowed hours of love. Again the miracle of birth—the pain and joy, the kiss of welcome and the cradle song drowning the drowsy prattle of a babe.

And then the sense of obligation and of wrong—pity for those who toll and weep—tears for the imprisoned and despised—love for the generous dead, and in the heart the rapture of a high resolve.

And then ambition with its lust of pelf and place and power, longing to put upon its breast distinction's worthless badge. Then keener thoughts of men, and eyes that see behind the smiling mask of craft—flattered no more by the obsequious cringe of gain and greed—knowing the uselessness of hoarded gold, of honor bought from those who charge the usury of self-respect, of power that only bonds a coward's knees and forces from the lips of fear the lies of praise. Knowing at last the unstudied gesture of esteem, the reverent eyes made rich with honest thought, and holding high above all other things—high as hope's great throbbing star above the darkness of the dead—the love of wife and child and friend.

Then locks of gray, and growing love of other days and half remembered things, holding the withered hands on those who first held his, while over dim and loving eyes death softly presses down the lids of rest.

And so, locking in marriage vows his children's hands and crossing others on the breasts of peace, with daughters' babes upon his knees, the white hair mingling with the gold, he journeys on from day to day to that horizon where the dusk is waiting for the night. At last, sitting by the holy hearth of home as evening's embers change from red to gray, he falls asleep within the arms of her he worshipped and adored, feeling upon his pallid lips love's last and holiest kiss.

After Senator Aldrich's Sculp.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 29.—Candidates for the five state offices and for representatives from the two congressional districts were nominated by the democrats today in the state and congressional election conventions and a platform assailing the tariff, Cannonism and the retention of Secretary Ballinger in the cabinet, was adopted. Louis A. Waterman of Providence was named for governor, George O'Shaughnessy of Providence was named for congress in the fifth district, and Thomas F. Conroy of Cranston was selected in the second.

The convention also pledged the democratic candidates for the general assembly to support Judge Arthur L. Brown of the district court, as a successor to United States Senator Nelson A. Aldrich.

The State of Oregon to Publish a Newspaper.

Philanthropists have been urged to endow great newspapers as they endow libraries and museums, the idea being that only an "endowed" paper could be absolutely free, candid and fearless. In Oregon, where pure and absolute democracy, we are assured, has finally been established, where the people rule and officials tremble and obey, they have different notions about journalism. Millionaire aid is not wanted. Dissatisfaction with the "commercial press" has led to the submission to the electorate of a proposal for the publication of a paper of an official gazette and its free distribution among the people.

The plan as carefully thought out is ingenious and interesting. A board of three "inspectors for government" representing labor, the farmers and the great commercial bodies is to edit the paper, with expert help. The paper would publish not merely state news, state documents and reports on county and municipal affairs but also "news of progress and governmental experiments" all over the world. Criticism and complaints of official acts from citizens are to have a place in the paper, though no communication must exceed 200 words—a blow to the verbose correspondent or enthusiastic convert. The referred measure limits the maximum cost of the paper to $1 for each registered voter, but if more money should be needed the editorial board would have to ask not the legislature but the people for it, the intention being to make the board independent of politicians and to discourage all intrigue and pull. Advertisements are barred; to this rule there are to be no exceptions under any disguise.

Oregon is our most advanced "sociological laboratory." Even Kansas has to borrow from it. It is not unlikely that the voters will approve the bill in question and make the state the publisher of a "live" journal of the higher political and social thought. But why not charge a reasonable price? Papers given away are not valued anywhere, and human nature is still human nature even in radical Oregon.

The XXth Century reception is indefinitely postponed in deference to the late bereavement of a beloved member, Mrs. J. B. Wall. MRS. TOM HOPK, President.

Cree's Tribute to Oklahoma.

Men of Oklahoma, I go forth to the conflict without a single fear, with an absolute confidence that the people will do the right thing. I have not yet passed the meridian of life. I am not rummaging among the ruins of the Roman Republic, nor invading the tombs of the dead Kings of Old England. I am living in the active, busy, rushing present, and am looking into the still more active, busy, rushing future. I enter this future with malice towards none, with charity for all, determined to do my best for the glory of the state and advancement of our people. To this end, let all patriots strive.

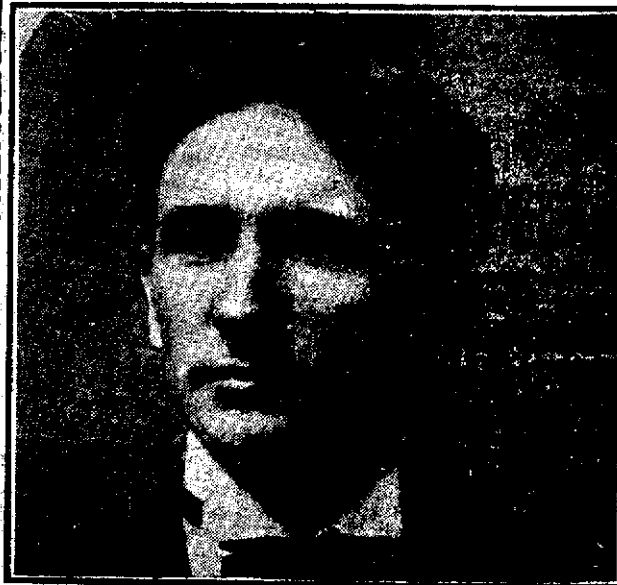

I love Oklahoma, her institutions and her people. 'Tis here I have spent the best and mature years of my life, and here live my warmest friends. All that I am, all that I ever hope to be, I owe to the people of this state. As their chosen servant, I shall faithfully and honestly serve.

A good position can be had by ambitious young men or ladies in the railway or "wireless" telegraph service. Since the 8 hour law became effective, and since the extensive developments of wireless telegraphy, there is a shortage of about 10,000 telegraphers. Positions pay beginners $70 to $80 per month. We operate under supervision of telegraph officials and all graduates are guaranteed positions. Write for full details to the Institute nearest to you. "The Way of the Cross"

September 28, 1910

Hon. J. W. McNeal, Guthrie, Okla.
My Dear Sir:—Your letter of Sept. 19th has been received, read and considered.

Inasmuch as you first proposed a meeting of candidates I feel that it is proper for you to issue the call naming the place and time of meeting. I will be glad to attend and will urge upon all democratic candidates that they do likewise.

I am pleased beyond measure to know that all candidates for important state offices in Oklahoma are willing to assist in every way possible in promoting honest elections in this state.

When we meet to agree upon plans to carry into effect the suggestions heretofore made by you in your letter of August 17th, as I understand it, we will not be confined in our actions to the propositions stated in your letter, but any candidate will be permitted to offer additional suggestions that will tend to greater security of the sanctity of the ballot.

In securing an honest election it is not sufficient that each voter "be permitted to vote just as his conscience dictates, and have his vote counted and declared just as it was cast," but it is equally important to provide that none but legally qualified voters shall be permitted to vote. To permit illegal and disqualified voters to participate in our elections is just as fatal to honest elections and good government as it is to make false count and return a legal ballot. On the 2nd day of August, by a very decisive majority, the people of this state amended our constitution, whereby certain qualifications have been prescribed as prerequisite to the right to cast a ballot. This amendment is popularly known as the "Grandfather Clause" in the constitution. Having become a part of our organic law it is the duty of every citizen who believes in upholding the laws of the state to see that this provision of our constitution is carried into effect.

At our meeting I shall propose that we take steps to see that this amendment to the constitution is strictly enforced at the coming election, to the end that no illegal or disqualified voter under our laws is permitted to vote in this state. From the interest you have manifested in regard to fair elections I am warranted in concluding that you will heartily join in the effort to enforce the "Grandfather Clause" amendment in this election. Will you do so? Let us all unite in seeing that none but legal voters under our constitution and laws are permitted to vote, that each voter be permitted to vote as he desires and that his ballot be counted and returned as cast. With these things accomplished "Sunshine and Prosperity" will be the portion of the people of Oklahoma.

Very truly yours,
LEE CRUCE.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL.

Evening Rev. Leroy Anderson and a strong discourse on the "How Shall We Escape?" He has his text Hebrews 3:1-3. The subject for this evening will be: "From Rags to Robes." It is especially meant for the young men, and will be a sermon appealing to the reason. Last evening he said in part:

The apostle is urging that the Hebrews not let themselves drift away from the Christ. The awfulness of neglecting the salvation is emphasized by asking the question "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" If this is let slip, all is gone. Nothing can substitute for it. There's a story of judgment day being announced. A man neglected his soul who threw down $500,000 in stocks and bonds saying "That will not be worth 5 cents tomorrow." A poor soul in pinched poverty, but rich toward God, rejoiced that his treasure was in heaven. God can save all rich or poor high or low, who will not let sinking barks bear them away from the Rock of the Ages.

But many are neglecting, floating away from this salvation. This appeal is made to those who were Christians. The great danger today is that those who are saved will through neglect or other interests

A Genuine Pile Cure vs. Injurious Dope

ERU-SA is the ONLY NON-NARCOTIC, NON-POISONOUS, and lawful pile cure. All scientific and medical authorities declare EVERY ingredient in ERU-SA PILE REMEDY suitable for piles; same authorities condemn the INJURIOUS chemicals and other poisonous pile medicines, and Supreme Courts uphold these authorities. ERU-SA CURES PILES OR $50 PAID! ALL MODERN druggists of highest standing in Ada, Okla., sell ERU-SA. DR. HANNEY DRUG CO., OWEN DRUG CO., MAD-ON DRUG CO., ADA DRUG CO. and DRUGGISTS HAVE STALLS.

(1) Pressure of business, many through the plan of credit for bread are being blinded to their own interests. Dollars are counted like beads on a new rosary. Sunday is neglected, health impaired, soul starved.

(2) Whirl of the world is taking many away from God. The great ocean is offering up its gracious bosom but we are in some inland whirlpool, gradually becoming water-soaked. We'll not be long until heavy with its waters, we will sink. What a tragedy sin is to the soul. Our people in Ada are in the whirl of the world. The electric theatre, the pool and bowling, haunts get our men, and (God save us!) some of our women. Oh for the voice of an Elijah or a Jeremiah to cry against these things that are drifting us away from God.

(3) The claims of the club and the lodge are wearing many from Christ. Not the church, but there receive first attention. Men can't find time to attend to God's business, but the lodge finds them giving its interests consideration. Women are clubbed to death. Their powers are drained in carrying on their social duties vying with each other in entertaining, gambling and near gambling. Home and church life are absolutely begging and all the time we are drifting from God. How shall we escape?

(4) We are drifting through a consuming desire to be entertained. We are in search of that which pleases us. There is a restless rushing to and fro to find that which excites our decaying sensibilities. Already the hand of destiny is pointing at high noon on the dial of fate. Disintegration has set in. We have almost forgotten how to blush. We can stand anything just so it entertains. Where we once hung our head in shame, we now encore. We are bringing on a generation of young people that is going to break our hearts and snare at the noblest. Only a heroic turning can avert it. God save us!

You don't have to be antagonistic, merely neglect. Fail to eat and you will die. The foolish virgins neglected. Jesus invites us, "Come unto me." He entreats "Oh Jerusalem how oft" he cries. He reasons. He draws. He warns. No opening has been left through which he does not try to enter the life of man. Why will you die? Why will you drift away from God? All other ground is as sinking sand. Neglect not, drift not.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate.

Administrator.

Confederate Picnic Tomorrow.

Tomorrow is the time set for the Confederate picnic and reunion. Gen. Crow has been hard at work all week preparing the grounds and looking after details, and the veterans are expecting a good turnout.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 25.—Insurgency and standpatism have not yet taken on concrete form in this state and the issue of division have not been drawn. "If Roosevelt is nominated for president in 1912, and I believe he will be, he will carry Oklahoma. It would mean a complete change in republican party leaders and management in the state and the retirement of all the present republican members of congress."

Thus I. G. Disney, of Muskogee, clerk of the United States court of the Eastern district, expressed himself regarding the republican situation as a result of the Roosevelt victory in New York. Disney is a progressive and would be a leader of his district were it not for the untoward conditions that Chairman Jim Harris has brought about.

"By the victory in New York state Theodore Roosevelt has performed his highest service to the republican party of nation," said Judge Milton C. Garber, progressive leader in the First Congressional District. "His victory is one in which an average man feels that he is a direct beneficiary and in which patriotic citizens everywhere should rejoice."

One of two things is proven by the Roosevelt victory, the progressives in Oklahoma, while rejoicing secretly, have no inclination to discuss the matter for the reason that by their very inactivity and silence they do not become parties to the predicted political assassination of Jim Harris, thus saving the guilt and shame from any man by permitting a metamorphosis that makes assassination suicide; or they are completely bowed by the stubborn scaliness of Harris, superinduced by the knowledge of manipulation possessed by Jake Hamon of Lawton, legal adviser of the state committee, and Bird S. McGuire, the erstwhile average citizen but the dude congressman of the First District.

Chairman Jim Harris has sent word to the standpat republican papers not to reply to any charges that are made against his organization, but to how to the line of policy set out early in the campaign—a discrediting of the Haskell administration. This word has been headed by a majority of the republican papers that, say anything, at all in politics editorially. The Enid Eagle seems to have been successfully curbed since the defeat of Garber. The Tulsa World still displays a progressive tendency and so does the Muskogee Phoenix. The State Capital hasn't much time for Harris personally, for since Haskell moved the capital, and since Oklahoma City had election frauds, Greer's paper is tolerably busy trying to discredit Haskell and Oklahoma City. John Golob's State Register is a free-thinking sheet and the Oklahoma City Times is anything at this time that Jim Harris wants it to be; next week it may be in the progressive ranks.

If the silence theory is not correct, then Jim Harris faces an immediate crisis in his political career. If the Roosevelt following get the necessary inspiration from the New York victory they will be organizing within a week and the stand pat congressional nominees will be defeated world without end. It would be good news for Roosevelt that the standpaters in Oklahoma are defeated and to that the progressives have started an organization that means sure victory in the next campaign.

"The state is hopelessly democratic," said a Vinca insurgent, "so far as the state ticket is concerned. It would avail us nothing to fight either for or against McNeal. We wouldn't win. We are most anxious about the congressional ticket, and we want McGuire, Morgan and Greager defeated so that the way may be clear two years from now for the insurgent republicans. I predict that Roosevelt will be the nominee for president. If he is, his popularity would almost guarantee to us the Fourth and Fifth Oklahoma districts also."

McNeal is in a pretty plight. He's looking for a cue. The other day he was in a conference at Guthrie where his friends advised him to come out for anti-prohibition and woman suffrage, and he was willing, but he remembered that the Anti-Saloon League endorsed him before the primary and he could not consistently desert them now. Then he considered taking up woman suffrage matter, but the conference advised him that Senator R. L. Owen is the leader of that movement in Oklahoma, and that the women are indelubly tied to a democratic standard. So there's nothing left for McNeal but to act under the direction of Harris and fight Haskell.

That's the gripper!
A river of heat, then a shiver of cold, A willingness even to do as you are told.

An arrow of pain, now in this place, now that—
That's the gripper!

A feeling of doubt as to where you are at—
That's the gripper!

A stupid sensation—of course, wholly new—
That's the gripper!

A foolish depression—why should you feel blue?—
A doubt as to whether this really is you—
That's the gripper!

Strange visions at night that deprive you of rest—
That's the gripper!

A taste in your mouth and a weight on your chest—
That's the gripper!

A tired sensation that runs through your veins;
A queer combination of aches and of pains,
That's the gripper!

MANY MURDERS AND FEW PUNISHED

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28.—Persons out side who wonder why human life is the cheapest commodity in Chicago may discover a reason in the crime statistics just made public. In the last four years there have been 693 murders in this city.

Five hundred and forty-seven persons were arrested on murder charges 132 were convicted, but only two have been hanged, the others getting prison sentences, or securing new trials and delaying matters until they eventually were discharged.

The report is official, being made by Chief of Police Steward to Corporation Counsel Brundage, who will submit it to the bar association so that lawyers will have some light on the insistent complaint that crime goes unpunished in Chicago.

Is a Hen a Bird? Why Not?

Washington, Sept. 27.—The United States court of customs appeals is in the full swing of the first session.

The much-disputed question "is the hen a bird?" which the treasury officials passed up as hopeless, will probably come before the court at this term. The question is if a bird's eggs are free under the tariff, and a hen's eggs are taxed 5 cents a dozen, why isn't the hen a bird? The importer who paid the duty wants to know.
